Sheahan Implement Co. To Entertain Farmers Saturday

Movies, Entertainment and Refreshments to be Features

Going back to a custom which was halted by the war, the Sheahan Implement Co., 354 Depot Street, will again hold the "Annual Farmers Day" entertainment which proved popular in pre-war times. The date for the program has been set for next Saturday, February 9, and Dan and Joe Sheahan, owners of the company have made all arrangements to insure a good time for all local farmers and their families.

The entertainment will be held in the newly finished showrooms of the company, and will feature motion pictures of advance information on what farmers may expect in the line of new developments in agricultural machinery and other pictures of interest to farmers. In addition to the motion pictures, several acts of vaudeville have been secured and International Harvester field representatives will be present to talk over problems concerning that care and operation of farm implements. Refreshments will be served.

Since this is the off season when most farmers are less busy than at any other time of the year it is urged that all who are able come and bring their wives and families. The pictures and program will be shown twice during the day at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m., in order to make it possible for those who may not be able to attend all day.

Fireman's Dance at 9:00
Sheahan Brothers have made arrangements to turn the building over to the Antioch Fire Department at nine o'clock and the department will hold a free dance in the showrooms. Good music has been secured for the dance and refreshments will be served.

Charles Carr Loses Eye In Train - Auto Crash Last Thursday

Loss of one eye, a fractured skull and several broken ribs were suffered by Charles Carr, Liberty Corners, when a Soo line train struck his car at Trevor last Thursday morning at 7:50.

Carr was on his way to work at the Trevor stock yards and evidently did not see the train until too late to stop. In an effort to get across the tracks before the train reached the crossing, he failed to make it by a few feet, the train striking the rear of his car, upsetting it. Carr was thrown from the car, and the car finally came to rest on his head.

Rescuers lifted the car from his body and took him to a Kenosha hospital, where he is reported to be recovering.

Girl Who Was Jap Prisoner To Speak At Lake Villa Sun.

Miss Lois Kramer, who has spent much time in Japan and the Orient, will speak at a special service which will be held at the Lake Villa church next Sunday, Feb. 10, at 8 p.m.

Miss Kramer spent two years during the war in a Japanese internment camp and will speak on her experiences while in the camp as well as other experiences designed to give an insight into the workings of the Oriental mentality, as well as telling of customs and ways of doing things in Japan.

She has been on a speaking tour throughout the midwest and has addressed audiences in Chicago churches during the past four months, since returning to this country. This appearance will be her last in this section, since she leaves on a new tour which will include major eastern cities.

Her appearance at Lake Villa has been arranged by the Haleyon Group, a young ladies' organization of the church. The group extends an invitation to attend the special service.

Dear Sirs:

Ever since I came overseas, I've been watching the mailbox hoping to find a few copies of the News and it never came. Then I came to Okinawa and met Harry J. Smith. He gave me a few copies of the news and it really was good to get the scoop on the town. He also told me that it was necessary that I write a letter to you requesting the paper. Now I'm sorry I didn't write sooner. For the time being I'll be able to read his papers but one never knows when we'll be separated again. Therefore, I'd appreciate it very much if you would resume sending the news to me.

I am in an M. P. outfit which is jointly working with the Military Government. Therefore I see a little more of the natives, or shall we say "Okinawans," than the average serviceman does. The people are just about what you would expect except that men and women alike wear G. I. clothes.

Well, I'll close for now and hope that I receive the paper soon. If you know of anyone else being on this island, I'd appreciate it if you'd let me know so I could look them up.

$242.38 Collected In "March of Dimes"

1946 figures for the Antioch township "March of Dimes" drive for funds to combat polio fell about $75 short of the 1945 total according to final figures on the drive released this week by Roy I. Kufalk, chairman for the drive.

The Lakes Theatre collection accounted for almost one half of the total raised, $105.31 being the amount collected at the theatre during the seven days the trailer was shown there. Collections at the Antioch Theatre were $56.52, a drop of almost one hundred dollars from the amount collected last year. Other donations to the fund were made by the Antioch Lions Club, F. E. Kennedy, Home Bureau, Grass Lake PTA, and other individuals. Collections in the cans which were placed in Antioch business houses amounted to $36.20.

Kufalk said that he was pleased with the results of the drive in the community, and that a drop in the total collected was expected, partly on account of unsettled conditions throughout the nation and partly because of the multiplicity of charity drives during the past few years.

Servicemen's Problems Theme of Movie To Be Shown at Farm Meeting

Helping to solve a major local and national problem, the Sinclair Refining Company has produced a new sound movie dramatizing the responsibilities of civilians to returning veterans.

This film, "Heaven with a Fence Around It," will be shown free of charge at a Sinclair Farm Meeting in Salem Opera House, Salem, Wis. on Feb. 12 at 8:00 p. m. with the compliments of Joe Horton, Sinclair agent at Antioch, Ill. It was prepared with the cooperation of government bureaus, practical farmers, businessmen and experts well acquainted with the problems of returning veterans. "Heaven with a Fence Around It" is the romantic story of a young man who is typical of all veterans just back from the whirlpool of war. From the misery and filth of his battle experience emerged a clean dream. It was the dream of a farm of his own with fertile lands, a full root cellar, a comfortable home and independence and security. The dream looked like heaven with a fence around it—from a foxhole.

But—from the main street of a small community, it looked as if he were the one who was fenced in instead of heaven.

His troubles were not because civilians were indifferent or unkind. They wanted to be helpful. But if they didn't know he needed help. And if they did know, they didn't know how to help him!

They learned, however, as is shown in the movie. And seeing what they learned will help us all do a more patriotic job of helping returning veterans, according to Joe Horton, Sinclair agent.

Benefits Paid To Jobless Veterans Jump 12% In Week

Fewer jobs and more returning veterans pushed readjustment allowances sharply upward during the week ended January 26th, State Director of Labor Robert L. Gordon pointed out. "At the maximum weekly benefits of $20 each veteran has received an average of $94.50 in benefits, or less than five weeks' full allowance. This average duration of unemployment has remained consistent ever since V-J Day. It is quite possible that prolonged delay in reconversion of industry may be reflected in prolonged unemployment for veterans in the near future. On the other hand, an early resumption of full industrial production may cut the veteran unemployment period sharply."

"In all, 27,788 checks valued at $871,643 were issued to 23,074 jobless veterans compared with 27,540 checks worth $776,857 paid to 23,209 ex-servicemen in the week ended January 19th," Director Gordon said.

"Under the current bi-weekly system of issuing checks, a veteran may receive $40 for two weeks of total unemployment. Payments for the week of January 26th averaged $37.30 and for the preceding week, $33.50.

MRS. CATHERINE STOWE ABEL PASSES AWAY

Word was received here this week that Mrs. Catherine Stowe Abel passed away last week at Grand Rapids, Mich., where she had made her home. Mrs. Abel will be remembered by old residents as the wife of Clarence Abel, pastor of the Methodist church here more than fifty years ago. Burial was in Chicago.

GEORGE MALEK ON FUR LOUGH IN BERWYN, ILL.

Pfc. George J. Malek, grandson of Mr. James Babor of Bristol, is home in Berwyn, Illinois, enjoying a two month furlough before resuming his duties with the Medical Department, U. S. Army. George re-enlisted while overseas and will complete his army service next November. He has been on Okinawa for the past nine months.

Two Local Men Open New Shop In Huber Bldg.

Antioch's newest business establishment, Wes' Auto Body and Paint Shop, Depot street, in the building formerly occupied by the Huber Sign shop, was formally opened on Monday of this week and reports a large volume of business.

The newest establishment is owned by Wesley Reeves, Louis Van Patten and William Morris of Monroe, Wis. Reeves and Van Patten are well known to lake region residents, having both been employed at the Antioch Garage for many years.

Mahoney said that a splendid response has been made by local business men to the request that they purchase advertising space in the souvenir program which is to be printed and distributed at the dance.

The plans for the dance, which is to commemorate the sinking of the Maine, are moving forward, also. Mahoney reported that professional entertainment has been secured for the event as well as good music.

Advance interest in the party indicates that a large crowd will be on hand to join in the fun on Feb. 16.

Illinois Veterans Get Suitable Jobs Within Five Weeks

Jobless veterans who file claim re-adjustment allowances usually find suitable work in five weeks or less. State Director of Labor Robert L. Gordon said today that average duration of unemployment among Illinois veterans is 4.7 weeks, by which time the veteran has usually returned to his old job or found a new one.

"In the 16½ months since September 4, 1944, when the GI Bill became effective, 69,201 Illinois veterans have received $6,541,062," Director Gordon pointed out. "At the maximum weekly benefits of $20 each veteran has received an average of $94.50 in benefits, or less than five weeks' full allowance. This average duration of unemployment has remained consistent ever since V-J Day. It is quite possible that prolonged delay in reconversion of industry may be reflected in prolonged unemployment for veterans in the near future. On the other hand, an early resumption of full industrial production may cut the veteran unemployment period sharply."

The Antioch Legion eagers bowed to a fast team from Highwood Wednesday night in the Antioch high school gymnasium.

The team from Highwood to a nice lead, 11 to 1, in the first stanza and held it all the way. The game was however, well enjoyed by a large crowd of roolers for both teams. Final score for the fracas was 39 for the home boys and 45 for the Highwoods.

The Antioch team appeared in their new blue and white suits for the first time at the game.

The first game was played between two picked teams from the Antioch squad, due to failure of the team scheduled to meet the locals to show up.

Next week's game will feature a team from Waukegan against the Legion.

Mrs. Thomas Masek, Mrs. Ralph Kinrade and Laddie Masek were visiting with relatives in Chicago and Willow Springs on Saturday.

Frostee Sno Co.

To Resume Production Mar. 1st

An advertising campaign, seeking to enlist new employees, was the first move by the Frostee Sno company, Antioch, in starting to get ready for 1946 production.

John E. Oftezahl, owner of the company told newsmen today that enough prospective employees had applied for jobs to insure a full crew on three shifts when production is started on or about March 1st.

He also said that returned servicemen would be given preference over all other applicants for employment, as had been done in the past.

The company, which is engaged in making Christmas tree ornaments and display materials, produced two hundred thousand dollars worth of merchandise in 1945 and plans of the management for 1946 call for a production of about three hundred thousand dollars.

Oftezahl said that about one hundred thousand dollars worth of orders were not filled last year on account of shortages of help, equipment and factory space, and that since closing down in December, 1945, machinists have been busy overhauling and reconditioning old machinery and building new equipment. Plans are now underway to add more floor space to the present plant in order to make room for the new equipment.

Plans are now underway to install modern dust disposal equipment in order to keep the air in the vicinity of the plant free from dust. It is hoped that delivery of the unit may be made in time for its installation before starting production March 1.

Don't Look To Washington

The controversy over wages and prices is paralyzing the country. The situation calls to mind the words of the editor who said, more than two years ago: "Sometime in the not-too-distant future we, at home, are going to find out what total war means, even though we may never feel the impact of bombs on our cities. A pretty good indication of how we are going to find out can be seen in the gusts of bitter controversy sweeping through the land over strikes, taxes, subsidies and inflation. They are the prelude to the storm. When it hits in full fury, the test of our love of freedom will be upon us."

The storm has not hit in full fury yet, but as it builds up, as the terrific cost of "total" war begins to be felt, far too many people are seeking the "protection" of government by decree. Their eyes are fixed on the price-wage storm. They fail to recognize the deadly menace of oppression at their side. Those who question the advisability of continued rigid price control and all the other anti-inflation paraphernalia, as a matter of principle, are looked at askance and are reminded that the country will not tolerate the threat of rising prices.

Suppose this kind of chicken-hearted reasoning had been indulged in by the men at the front who learned about total war the hard way? Suppose those men whose lives, not just their comfort, were at stake, had said they would not tolerate the hazards of facing the enemy? The answer to that is that the war would have been lost.

Today we are going to lose the fight against inflation, we are going to lose the peace and we are going to lose our freedom unless we stop bringing before the risks of instability that are destined to be the home front's part of the total war we at home have talked about so blatantly for the past five years.

There is something of far greater importance to every American that the immediate problem of prices and wages. That something is our representative form of government which gave us a free nation. We have imposed upon it a far greater responsibility for our personal welfare than it was ever intended to endure. It has begun to spring at the seams.

In short, America must not look to Washington for answers to problems which not even a dictator could solve.

Great Stories From Little Stories

A nationwide reduction in air express rates, ranging as high as 13 per cent for shipments of higher weights traveling the longer distances, became effective January 1, 1946.

It is just such undramatic announcements as this that find their way into the back pages of the press, day after day, and year after year, which finally add up to great stories. In this case, they add up to hundreds of giant transport planes winging through the sky day and night, carrying millions upon millions of pounds of cargo on precision schedule—a truly great story. But the day by day developments, the venturing into the unknown, the little stories behind such great stories, receive far too little attention.

Mass movement of cargo through the air had its inception twenty-five years ago in a rickety old plane which made a hop a few hundred miles with a "token" load of express. The cargo was in reality a symbol of events to come, or so the officials of the Railway Express Agency, who initiated the experiment, hoped. The technique and equipment of flying had to be greatly improved. Express had to grow on its own merit as a private venture. Rate schedules had to be worked out on a practical basis to attract customers and at the same time justify the effort.

Promotion and sound business judgment on the part of those whose business it was to transport promptly the special shipments entrusted to their care, combined with the urge to pioneer, were the elements that put the planes and the cargoes in the sky. They are the same elements that created the pony express of yesterday, and tomorrow will create other great stories of progress in all branches of industry.

Which Will You Have?

One of the strongest arguments being put forth to prospective purchasers of Public Utility District bonds on the Pacific Coast, is the fact that such districts are not subject to state regulation of rates like the private power companies. They charge what the directors order. A clause in the ordinance of a typical PUD states that, "The district shall reserve the right to charge and collect the rates provided, and to change said rates at any time by ordinance." Consumers can take it or leave it. This is public ownership.

On the other hand, consumers served by an investor-owner electric company have a powerful and conclusive voice to speak for them in the matter of electric rates, the utilities commission. The commission, as a public body, keeps a watchful eye on every dollar of revenue collected by the private utilities. The public interest is a primary concern. No electric company can "reserve the right" to change rates at "any time." This is private ownership.

1. "Hey, Mr. Telephone! Wait a minute. I want to ask you something."

"Don't stop me now. Thousands of people are waiting for telephones and I'm rushing to install them."

2. "How are you doing on that job? How much longer will folks have to wait?"

"We're making good headway. Installed 50,000 telephones since the end of the war in the Illinois Bell territory alone. But in some places we have to add new switchboards or even build whole new central offices. Takes time, you know."

3. "I see. Some places all you need to do is get the instruments and install them. But where you have to install a lot more other equipment, there will be some delay. Right?"

"Correct! There's a huge amount of hand work in making and installing this complicated central office apparatus. But the equipment is on the way. And we're going to hurry."

4. "Thanks, old man. This will be good news for a lot of people."

"Sure will. Everybody needs a telephone. Must be terrible not to have one in the house. Gee, I better get going. So long!"

THE late summer sun beat down on old Yuan's narrow bent shoulders as he sat in his doorway. It turned the rice in his paddy fields into fat yellow kernels, but Old Yuan found no pleasure in it. His only son, impatient at working in the fields when there was fighting to be done, had shouted defiance at him and gone off with the others to join Chiang Kai-shek's army, leaving him to harvest it alone—an impossible task for one old man.

A burly figure appeared, running along the raised path between the rice paddies, continually looking over his shoulder as if in fear for his life. Seeing Old Yuan, it leaped up the incline and threw itself at the old man's feet. "Hide me, good father, I implore you!"

Old Yuan's grip on the hot relaxed as he recognized the overgrown lad as the simple-minded but cheerful worker who had been conscripted from a neighboring farm.

"From whom would you hide, Lun-ko?" he demanded severely.

"The men who took me away. They made us shoot firesticks that kill. I not like to kill. I run away. Hide me from them, I pray you!"

Old Yuan's wrinkled face tightened. Was it possible the conscription officers had not seen that this one was different from the others? Surely the gods had taken pity on an old man's plight and sent this lad that his rice crop might be saved. The sound of an approaching motorcar cut short his conjecture.

"I look for a farm lad called Lun-ko."

ture. "Quick, into the straw crib!" he commanded.

Scarcely had he latched the rickety door when a touring car containing two uniformed men drew up on the dusty road. One of them alighted and came swiftly along the path. "I look for a farm lad called Lun-ko," he announced, his keen black eyes sweeping the surroundings. "Come he here?"

Old Yuan trembled within himself. Surely this soldier in shiny boots was not one to be easily outwitted. But, summoning his courage and praying that the gods who had already been so charitable would continue to approve, he gestured toward a large bird that soared lazily over his fields. "As you can see, there are only myself and the buzzard."

The officer, instead, brought his gaze to rest on the straw crib.

"Dreamed you such an ugly creature could have such grace?" Old Yuan cried hastily. Then, pointing excitedly, "See, it lights."

The officer turned and looked at the ungainly crimson-wattled bird settling itself awkwardly on a stump.

"He appears quite fierce but he is not," Old Yuan pursued eagerly. "He helps me by catching mice and grasshoppers that destroy my grain." Then timidly he asked, "Have you not known like men with strong bodies but no heart for fighting?"

A sneeze from the straw crib caused Old Yuan's heart to contract and brought the officer's attention around sharply. But instead of striding toward it and demanding officiously to look inside, he merely stared at it intently. Then he again turned toward the rice fields that glinted pale gold in the sun, stirred by a gentle breeze. "Just you and the buzzard, eh?" he said finally.

Old Yuan's head sank to his chest. Now he would be manacled and taken to jail for harboring a fugitive. His fields would wither and rot, and many would go hungry.

"In America where I once studied," the officer said, "I read of a general who stated, 'An army marches on its stomach.' He added, nodding thoughtfully, 'He was a great man.'

Old Yuan could only blink at him uncomprehendingly.

The man took a deep breath of the warm fragrant air, squinted up at the cloudless sky, then looked at Old Yuan and smiled broadly, "I congratulate you on your bountiful crop. I'm sure you can harvest it—with the help of your buzzard." Then with a brisk salute he marched off toward the waiting car.

Tears of relief trickled slowly down Old Yuan's wrinkled cheeks and his fatigue fell away as if it had never been. Aye, with such understanding men in the world there would be an end to war some day.

Expect 'Carbon 13' to Rank With X-Rays

Research Promises New Tool For Medical Science.

PHILADELPHIA. — Expanded production of Carbon 13, which recent experiments in biochemical research indicate "gives promise of ranking in importance with x-ray as a tool of medical science," was announced here recently by Sun Oil Company and Houdry Process Corporation.

The isotope, so rare that current production has been at the rate of less than one-half ounce a year, "may be compared to a chemical microscope that makes it possible for the chemist to see and follow chemical reactions in the body not possible with the x-ray."

Carbon 13 has been described as appearing like an ordinary carbon. It can be used to produce any of the compounds normally composed of carbon, such as sugar, alcohol, the hydrocarbons of gasoline and thousands of others.

Or, the statement continued, Carbon 13 can be used to grow vegetables which have some or all carbon atoms with atomic mass equaling 13.

These compounds and vegetables, injected into or eaten by living organisms, including humans, contain the necessary "tracers" by which their effect on body functions can be discovered.

Research with the isotope, the companies said, already has led to discovery of how fats are broken down in the animal organism to create energy necessary to carry on the life process.

"The possibilities of research with Carbon 13 are almost beyond imagination," the statement said. "It is a new and powerful tool for a revolutionary approach to studies of the fundamental processes that occur in all living things, as well as metabolic disease processes such as cancer, diabetes, hardening of the arteries, so-called 'heart trouble' and others."

The companies announced plans for construction, by Sun Oil, of two plants to produce "comparatively substantial quantities of Carbon 13."

Loud-Speaking Radio Stilled; Owner Jailed

LOS ANGELES. — Mrs. Lucille Wiseman, 43, began 60 radioles days in jail for violating probation granted when she was convicted a year ago of playing her radio so loud her neighbors' dishes "jumped" on their shelves.

The dishes were still jumping to the beat of hillbilly music, the neighbors told Judge C. Newell Carns, who revoked Mrs. Wiseman's probation.

The noise has grown louder instead of softer since Mrs. Wiseman was fined $25 last December, the neighbors said.

New Dreadnaught May Be Last in British Navy

LONDON. — The Daily Mail said recently that a special admiralty commission was working on revolutionary plans for a new anti-torpedo boat for Britain.

The commission's report, the newspaper said, was expected to be delivered in March and will decide whether the 40,000-ton H.M.S. Vanguard, due for her trials soon, will be the last of that type battleship the navy will build.

The article predicted that every branch of the Royal navy, from recruiting and training to battle tactics, will be affected by the commission's findings.

New Drug Effective in Cutting Malaria Danger

CANBERRA, AUSTRALIA. — A group of Australian scientists who allowed themselves to be bitten repeatedly by malarial mosquitoes announced recently that a new drug, paludrine, rendered malaria no more harmful than the common cold.

Members of the group remained fit despite repeated infection, they said. The scientists said the taking of one or two paludrine tablets each weekend would give complete freedom from malarial attacks.

Hitler Never Paid Income Tax; Claimed 'Too Busy'

FRANKFURT, GERMANY. — Adolf Hitler, although one of the highest paid men in Nazi Germany, never paid an income tax because he argued that "the head of the nation should not be annoyed by such requirements," the American Military government said.

German field marshals, Nazi party officials and some of Hitler's personal favorites also dodged the payment of income taxes, the report said.

True Magnetic Pole Site Found

RAF Polar Explorers Claim Discovery of Right Spot Far North.

LONDON.—A century-old Arctic belief was disputed recently by 11 RAF polar explorers who claim the discovery of the true magnetic north pole above the tip of North America, 300 miles north-northwest of its supposed location on Boothia peninsula.

Word of the discovery was reported here by the Royal Geographic society from RAF Wing Commander D. C. McKinley, who piloted a converted British Lancaster bomber across the magnetic pole last May, according to the United Press.

McKinley reported that he and his 10 fellow explorers fixed the true location of the magnetic pole on Prince of Wales island, along the coast of McClintock channel.

Technical details of the historic flight were withheld pending McKinley's return to London.

Fragments of his report made public by the society revealed that the perilous mission was executed under incredibly difficult conditions to gather weather information badly needed by the Allied air forces.

They flew through temperatures ranging to 35 degrees below zero over Arctic wastes where the slightest mishap would have meant death for the entire expedition.

Just 100 Years Later.

By coincidence, the explorers left England on May 10, 1945, exactly 100 years after the start of the ill-fated expedition led by Sir John Franklin, who set out in 1845 to discover the Northwest Passage.

There were no survivors of that voyage, but 14 years later Franklin's two ships, H.M.S. Erebus and Terror, were sighted drifting ghost-like off the Newfoundland banks.

McKinley's group selected the period from May 10 to May 26 for the flight because that is the optimum period for the sun and moon, both of which are above the horizon 90 degrees apart during those two weeks, giving the best direction guides.

They flew in the specially converted four-engined bomber Aries, which made a successful global flight in the autumn of 1944. For the polar flight, the Aries was stripped of all camouflage, armor and armament, and its nose and tail were streamlined. The modifications increased its gasoline load to 4,000 gallons and enabled the plane to be fitted with extra observation domes.

Over True Pole.

The expedition took off from its forward base in Iceland on May 16, 1945.

At 2 a. m. (Greenwich mean time) on May 17 their compasses indicated the plane, then flying at 15,000 feet, was exactly over the true magnetic pole.

McKinley dropped a Union Jack and circled the spot several times to allow his photographers to take pictures of the location. Then they set course for their Iceland base, which they reached 19 hours after the takeoff.

Their discovery appeared to have refuted a scientific belief held since 1831, when a British expedition under Capt. John Ross claimed to have fixed the location of the magnetic pole on the west coast of Boothia peninsula, northernmost point of the North American continent.

Ross located the pole at north latitude 71 degrees, west longitude 96 degrees, about 300 miles south-southeast of the spot named by McKinley on Prince of Wales Island.

At 12:45 p. m. (Greenwich mean time) on May 26 the Aries returned to Shawbury, England.

Nanking Does Rushing Business in Brief Cases

NANKING, CHINA.—Nanking is brief case crazy, no what diplomats are arriving and the government is moving back from Chungking, China's wartime capital. Almost every store is displaying brief cases—with prices ranging from the equivalent of 10 to 30 United States dollars. Merchants expect to do a roaring business when government officials move here en masse.

Food Chief of Hungary

Fears Widespread Famine

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY.—Whole-scale famine in Hungary this winter "seems unavoidable," Food Minister Karoly Baranyos said recently. Baranyos, member of the Small Holders party, said the chief medical officer in Budapest had presented "terrifying statistics, with mortality exceeding births over 50 per cent, and wholesale illnesses through malnutrition and starvation."

Use of New Ice Breaker On Great Lakes Approved

WASHINGTON.—The coast guard has agreed to leave the U.S.S. Aspen at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., this winter to serve as an ice-breaker. Representative Bradley (Rep., Mich.) said recently,

The U.S.S. Chaparral will be withdrawn, he said, but the coast guard has advised him it will furnish lighthouse tenders later to serve as ice-breakers if they are turned back by the navy.

Develop Faster Malaria Cure

'Wonder Drug' Is Found by Scientists; It Proves Quicker, Easier.

WASHINGTON.—American scientists reported here development of a new synthetic drug called superior to atabrine or quinine for malaria, and existence in an early experimental stage of another new drug which is offering definite promise of being an actual cure for the relapsing type of malaria.

The board for the co-ordination of malarial studies made the announcement here through the Associated Press. It was disclosed that both drugs were developed through the co-operation of several hundred prison inmates and conscientious objectors who volunteered as "human guinea pigs."

The board listed the Illinois state penitentiary at Stateville as one of six institutions in which inmates allowed themselves to be infected with malaria and treated with untried drugs.

Used in 5,000 Cases.

The board said that the first of the new synthetic drugs has been termed SN-7618 and has been used successfully in 5,000 human cases of malaria, including more than 1,000 in military service.

This drug, the board said, relieves acute attacks of malaria three times faster than atabrine or quinine. It can be taken in weekly instead of daily doses and doesn't make the patient sick in the stomach as the other two drugs sometimes do, it was said. In addition, it doesn't stain the skin as does atabrine and doesn't cause buzzing in the ears as does quinine.

Like atabrine or quinine, SN-7618 actually can cure the form of malaria called "falciparum malaria," the board reported. This type often is fatal, but is nonrelapsing. Whereas the older drugs require four to six days to effect a cure, SN-7618 can do the job in about two days, it was said.

The board said SN-7618 can suppress and relieve acute attacks of the more common type of malaria called "vivax," which is not fatal in adults but causes frequent relapses, sometimes as many as 20 in three years. The new drug cannot cure "vivax," but gives relief more quickly than atabrine or quinine.

Cures Without Poisoning.

The second new drug described by the board is designed to cure "vivax," but the board members emphasized that it is still in an early experimental stage and did not identify the drug specifically. They said it is a chemical cousin of plasmochin, a drug known to have curative value against the disease, but unusable because it is poisonous in dosages required to effect a cure.

They said the new drug "appears to be definitely superior to plasmochin in that it effects cure without producing significant toxic (poisonous) symptoms."

The board said 100 persons suffering from "vivax" malaria were given the new drug more than three months ago and the attacks were relieved.

Neither drug is available to the public yet. The latter of the two is still in an early experimental stage.

Both developments resulted from a $5 million dollar wartime research program in which 14 thousand compounds were tested seeking improved weapons against the malady which strikes up to 300 million persons throughout the world annually.

The first drug has been employed successfully in 5,000 human cases of malaria, including more than 1,000 in the armed forces, the scientists said, but they would not recommend its release to civilians generally until still further trials are made.

Japanese Captives Study English at Their Camps

WASHINGTON.—Japanese prisoners of war at the Huntsville, Texas, camp are having an opportunity to study democracy, the war department has disclosed.

The program is in charge of Lt. Col. Boudre C. Moore, former instructor in the school of military government at Charlottesville, Va., who lived in Japan for 17 years.

Details are being worked out largely by about 30 Japanese liberal captives "who engage in research evolving plans as to how American institutions and government would work in Japanese setting." The results will be printed and distributed among other prisoners, whose reactions will be noted.

Most of the prisoners will be returned to Japan, in the next six weeks and only a few hundred will be retained here for the experiment.

Arctic Air Defense Route Planned by Army Airmen

WASHINGTON.—The army air force already is at work on plans to protect this country from aerial attack via the "short-cut" route across the Arctic.

Plans are in the formative stage today for a new undertaking under which flights of B-29s will frequent the North Pole area to learn all possible of the weather, land, resources, ice formations, seas and sea currents there.

Japs Hiding Food And Arms, Charge

Danger of Starvation Does Not Now Exist.

TOKYO.—General MacArthur's officers came up the other day with two charges of deception against the Japanese.

Col. Crawford F. Sams, chief of the public health and welfare section, said Japanese government officials had misrepresented the country's food problems in an attempt to obtain American supplies.

Sams asserted the danger of starvation in Japan during this winter "does not now exist."

Meanwhile, U. S. 8th army headquarters said 24th division patrols on the southern island of Shikoku have "discovered further evidence that Japanese military equipment is being concealed in spite of repeated demands that it be reported."

Col. Kenwood Ross, Springfield, Mo., said he discovered several huge concrete pillboxes along the coast which had not been reported. Ross, 24th division ordnance chief, said the gun emplacements were concealed within artificial houses.

Stores of war material were located in hidden recesses in a warehouse, mixed with office supplies. Quantities of rifles, knee mortars and other material were found in a schoolhouse at Niihama.

Sixth army headquarters said recently a 24th division guard had shot and fatally wounded a Japanese in halting 1,000 civilian men and women storming a bivouac area as American troops evacuated a campsite near Matsuyama.

The crowd, gathered to scrounge for scraps, failed to observe warning signs or several shells fired into the ground. The wounded man, shot in the leg, fled and bled to death before medical aid could be given.

Division officials said Japanese civilians repeatedly had been warned against entering military areas and that Yanks "will continue to protect American lives and property."

Woman Outwits Robber; Feigns a Heart Attack

CHICAGO.—Miss Vera James, 5235 Greenwood avenue recently outwitted a Negro who tried to rob her after forcing his way into her automobile at 4915 Drexel boulevard.

Threatening her with a knife, he demanded her money. She handed him only seven cents and he ordered her to drive on with him in the car. A short distance farther on she began gasping for air and told him she had suffered a heart attack. The Negro fled when she stopped the car. Miss James is owner of a baby scale rental service and had made a delivery to the Drexel boulevard address.

Solitaire Addict Counts His 'Winnings' $146,649

COVINGTON, KY.—If C. L. Abbott of Covington fails of being the world champion solitaire player, at least there's little doubt he is the most persistent.

Abbott recently wrote the Kentucky Post that he had completed his 100,000th game and that he had won, on the average, about one out of every 36. Sixty-five decks of cards were worn out in the process, said Abbott, who added that had he been playing for money, he would have won $146,649.

Abbott told the Post that he had spent the equivalent of about 225 days on the game.

50,000 Death Toll in Traffic Is Seen in 1950

CHICAGO.—A safety lighting executive predicted a yearly traffic toll of 50,000 deaths and 1,750,000 injuries by 1950 unless causes of accidents are removed.

A. F. Dickerson, chairman of a street lighting committee, said, "It has been estimated that by 1950, vehicle miles traveled will be increased from 50 to 100 per cent over those of 1941."

Dickerson said that installation of safety lighting at dangerous intersections would reduce the number of night accidents.

Vet of Many Campaigns Weds His Foster Sister

PITTSBURGH.—Pretty Martha McGinty, 17, married to Raymond McGinty, 30-year-old veteran of Africa and Italy campaigns, foresaw nothing but marital peace—her "in-laws" are her foster parents.

The bridegroom is the bride's foster brother. He didn't know she loved him until she wrote him so while he was a lieutenant with the 34th division overseas.

The marriage license bureau refused them a license until three judges certified that there was no blood relationship.

Jap Children Given Military Training

WITH THE 6TH ARMY, SHIKOKU.—Reports that Japanese school children still are receiving military training have been confirmed by reconnaissance patrols of the 24th division. Large stores of wooden training rifles, sabers, spears and bayonets were found in obscure corners of elementary school buildings.

Fabulous Siam
Home of 30-story temples, medieval pageants, and medicines made from deer horns and snake gall, fabulous Siam lends itself easily to popular fallacies—the so-called white elephant is not white, but albino; many straw hats represented as "made in Bangkok" were fashioned elsewhere; and the much-publicized Siamese twins were born of Chinese parents.

Spontaneous Combustion
The gases and vapors from gas and inflammable liquids may be ignited by spontaneous combustion near-by substances, a flame, a spark, or excessive heat. These have been known to ignite gases and vapors originating several hundred feet away from where the flammable liquids are stored or handled.

Sour Cream Dressing
An easy way to make sour cream dressing is simply to whip the cream until it is smooth and somewhat stiff. Then add a little salt, and if you like it, add a dash of dill or onion juice.

Wood Temperature
By actual measurement the temperature in the woods is about 10 degrees lower during hot weather and about the same amount higher during cold weather than in adjoining fields.

Waterproof Synthetics
Many of the new synthetic fabrics are hydroscopic—do not absorb water. This means these fabrics are almost waterproof and therefore will not readily absorb stains such as medicine and food spilled.

CALF SCOURS AND THEIR TREATMENT

DON'T DELAY!
University of Wisconsin scientists say Calf Scours are caused by lack of vitamin A and nicotinic acid in cow's milk during first few days after calving.

Beebe CALPLETS
Supply vitamin amounts of vitamins A and nicotinic acid as well as vitamin C (Ascorbic Acid) and D. Give it right after birth and continue daily as required.

French Survival
Tied to U. S. Help

Serious Domestic Disorders Feared This Winter.

PARIS.—France will face the problem of quelling serious domestic disorders this winter if the United States does not step up food shipments substantially and shortly, Robert Tanguy-Prigent, dynamic 36-year-old socialist minister of food and agriculture, asserted.

M. Tanguy-Prigent said that bread would be rationed again unless increased shipments of wheat from the United States and Canada arrive in the near future. He warned that reintroduction of bread rationing would deal a serious blow to French morale, already low from six years of undernourishment.

He described the meat situation as equally bad and added that there was no prospect of any real relaxation of food rationing in France for at least another two years.

"This winter will be terrible if the United States doesn't make a huge effort to help us," he said. "To a great extent the secret of our economic recovery and very survival lies in American hands today."

M. Tanguy-Prigent, a short dark Breton, who, despite his youth, is regarded as one of the most able men in the de Gaulle cabinet, gave a factual review of the food situation. During Nazi occupation he was active in organizing resistance of Breton farmers.

"We did away with bread rationing because the United States and Canada promised to send us 23.6 million quintals of wheat," he said. "So far we have only received 250 thousand dollars. Argentina, which promised to send us 5 million quintals, has suddenly backed out entirely."

Potatoes will continue to be severely rationed and almost unobtainable, he said. He said the potato crop was the worst in decades.

Mr. Tanguy-Prigent said French agriculture suffered from a scarcity of fertilizer, labor, machinery and gasoline, while some land is still full of German mines which it may take years to remove.

British Railroads Hit

Many Times by Bombs

NEW YORK.—The story of the bomb punishment British railroads took was told here recently by Sir William Stanier, F.R.S., of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway company. The railroad suffered nearly 14,000 bombing incidents, he said. When war broke out ultra high-speed trains were withdrawn and timetables were recast, with maximum speeds at 60 miles an hour, but with permission to run up to 75 miles an hour to make up time. He said the American Transportation corps played "a magnificent part" in working side by side with British railroads handling vast stores of war supplies. Over 400 United States-built locomotives also rendered invaluable service, he said. Sir Stanier was guest of honor at the National Newcomen luncheon in the Hotel Pierre.

Versatile P-38 Fights

At Night; Takes Photos

BURBANK, CALIF.—Two secret variations of the P-38 fighter plane—one of the world's fastest night fighters and a 425-mile-an-hour photo reconnaissance plane—were in combat during the last weeks of the Pacific war, the army air forces disclosed.

The all-black night Lightning, designated the P-38M, combines a speed in excess of 425 miles per hour with a radar-sighted battery of four .50-caliber machine guns and a .20-mm. cannon in the nose. Under-wing rockets equal the salvo of 10 five-inch naval guns. A radar operator's cockpit is situated directly behind the pilot.

The "Photo Joe" is equally fast and mounts five powerful oblique or vertical-viewed cameras in the nose which take pictures from treetop levels to 30,000 feet. The cameras can be replaced with regular P-38 armament.

Hot Dog, Folks! Now You Get 'Em Untouched by—

NEW YORK.—All right, folks, get your dimes out and watch the fun.

General Electric, after a year of trying, has perfected an electronic hot dog machine—and it works.

You just walk up and plop in your coin. Out bounces a hot dog, roll and all. The "dog" is cooked from the inside out, and the roll is just as crisp as a bright December morning.

But you gotta bring your own mustard.

The machine, which looks something like a domesticated juke box, is expected to go into full production almost immediately.

Conversion of Liberty Ships Halted by Board

MANILA.—Conversion of Liberty ships to carry troops home has been halted as "the results were poor" and the men suffered hardships, B. Frank Young, war shipping administration official, announced.

Only 30 ships were converted. Men aboard some failed to get hot food for five days in rough weather, Young said. Life rafts also presented a problem.

Navy Moves to Assist Housing

Releases Supply of Surplus
Material and 5,000
Quonset Huts.

WASHINGTON.—To provide some relief for the housing shortage the navy has declared surplus 56 million dollars worth of building material and 5,000 Quonset huts located at four depots in the United States, the Associated Press reports.

If used as barracks, the huts could house 70,000 persons, or they could be converted to two family dwellings. Many have never been erected.

The building material includes nails, pipe, plumbing and electrical supplies. In addition, nearly 55 million board feet of lumber has been declared as surplus at naval establishments in the United States.

Location of Material.

The surplus announced is located as follows:

At Port Hueneme, Calif., 18 million dollars in building materials and 1,248 Quonset huts; at Tacoma, Wash., 12 million dollars in building materials and 1,540 Quonset huts; at Davisville, R. I., 16 million dollars in building materials and 2,012 Quonset huts and at Gulfport, Miss., 10 million dollars in building materials and 200 Quonset huts.

The navy said the Port Hueneme depot had been selected by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the disposal agency for building materials, as the first station in the United States at which spot cleanup sales of all types of surplus building materials would be made. Disposal teams from the RFC, working with naval personnel, will make the actual sales. Procedure developed will be used as a pattern for the national program to be used in other army and navy depots which stock building materials in large quantities.

Handling of Huts.

Disposal of Quonset huts also will be made through the RFC. Government agencies, including the veterans administration, will have top priority on the used barrack type dwellings. The huts each measure 20 by 48 feet. The majority are of the tropical type, with roof ventilation and one end screened. They may, however, be converted for use in cold climates.

The Producers' Council, Inc., an organization of building material manufacturers, reported that materials shortages will not permit the construction of more than 425,000 privately built dwellings in 1946 unless the government encourages production. Its statement listed the scarce materials as "millwork, enameled plumbing fixtures, heating equipment and possibly cast iron soil pipe."

"Production of these items is being held down by pricing or manpower problems or raw material shortages," the report said.

Partially Paralyzed Man
Drives Car 90,000 Miles

HARRIMAN, TENN.—Justice of the Peace Chester Hamby of Harriman has driven his car 90,000 miles although he is paralyzed from the hips down.

Hamby, a former state highway patrolman, had his back broken when his motorcycle collided with an automobile in 1939. Since then, he has not had the use of either leg.

Hamby installed a finger control air brake with booster tank and a hand control gas throttle attached to the steering post. The gadget can be used on any car by attaching a booster to the clutch, Hamby says. Hamby passed the state automobile drivers' examination.

Suez Canal Blocked for 76 Days During the War

PARIS.—The Suez canal was blocked for 76 days in the war, stockholders of the waterway learned.

A report said two sunken hulks still narrow the canal channel. They are the last of 26 ships sunk in the canal in 54 German air attacks.

Directors said canal traffic had fallen to such an extent in 1940, 1941 and 1942 that the company could pay no interest or amortization on capital for those three years.

Bread Rationing Seen For Britain This Winter

LONDON.—Rationing of bread in Britain this winter was predicted by Ellen Wilkinson, minister of education, unless the nation's paralyzing dock strike ends quickly.

In a speech at Jarrow-on-Tyne she said rationing would be necessary "unless the grain ships can be turned around quickly enough to get to Canada and away again before the St. Lawrence freezes."

Ships Are Warned of Jap Mines in Pacific

PEARL HARBOR, HAWAII.—All ships in the Pacific have been warned against the danger of floating mines which the Japs dumped into the sea by thousands during the last days of the war, the navy said.

In time the mines will spring leaks and disappear but may remain a menace for months.

Your Home

By Frances Ainsworth

The other day I dropped in to see one of my neighbors who had a cold. As we chatted over a cup of tea, she took a cough drop from the package on the table and called my attention to the waxed paper wrapping. She said she had noticed that an amazing number of drug and grocery items were wrapped in waxed paper and wondered why. Well . . . I wondered, too — and decided to find out! So later that afternoon I stopped at the corner drug store.

The druggist smiled when I asked him and told me to look around. On almost every shelf I found something wrapped in waxed paper — gum, medicines, cough drops, candies — hundreds of things! He told me that waxed paper is used for protection — that waxed paper helps keep moist products moist — dry products dry . . . and all products free from dust and dirt! Well . . . I was really impressed . . . but just for curiosity's sake I stopped at my grocer. He told me practically the same story. He said, "You know, many people take waxed paper for granted — but actually waxed paper is the workhorse of modern packaging — and is used on practically all foods — and waxed paper gives you better, fresher products at the lowest cost for this kind of protection."

Before I left, my grocer gave me several helpful tips that help keep foods fresh — and here's one I'd like to pass on to you . . . always make sure that the waxed paper wrappings on cereals, bread, brown sugar, etc., are reclosed properly after each serving. It takes just a few seconds — but keeps food fresh and appetizing longer! /

Canning with Corn Syrup

It should be remembered that there is no "rule of thumb" for using corn syrup in canning fruit. Each fruit requires a different proportion of the sugar and corn syrup mixture. Charts or recipes will be necessary, and the material is now being prepared and will be ready about May 15, well ahead of the canning season.
